The Citizens' Health Care Working Group was created by the Medicare Modernization Act of 2003 to provide for the American public to engage in an informed national public debate to make choices about the services they want covered, what health care coverage they want, and how they are willing to pay for coverage.

The group has conducted over 30 public meetings throughout the United States asking participants their opinions about how our health care system should work. (to review this report and recommendations go to <http://www.citizenshealthcare.gov/>)

A meeting was not held in Northeast Ohio. We feel this was a mistake and we want to provide another perspective (yours and ours) This is the opportunity..

Ohio Congressional representatives including those on the committees that will be acting on these recommendations have been invited to listen to you.
